NEW ORLEANS BOXING MEN TAKE WARNING; SEEK TITLE MATCH

Southern Promoters Hope to Put on Williams Against Burns During The Mardi Gras Week.

New Orleans, Jan. 28.—Warned by what happened in the game in California last promoters at New Orleans are reported to be maneuvering cautiously in billing future engagements. Some opposition to the fight has been offered to be evidence in Louisiana but by discounting the "rough stuff" the southern fight managers hope to keep contests going along smoothly without encountering great obstacles.

Already they are talking about signing a boat for the lightweight championship of the world in the river city. Promoters would like to bill between two bantams, preferably Kid Williams and Frankie Burns, for Mardi Gras week. No one would risk killing the game by bringing in a couple of heavies for a bout.

Notre Dame's game with West Point next week is expected to furnish the country about the best line of play on the respective powers of the eastern and western eleven. Definite word some time ago that Harvard and Michigan would not get together this year made the engagement between the Catholics and West Point one of the leading inter-sectional battles of the year. The schedule, just out, calls for Notre Dame's appearance on Nov. 6.

England will bid actively for just one athletic title this year, according to best word relayed here from London. Participation in practically all sports is being put out for the war but Harry Vardon will try to grab the national open golf championship and only Francis Ouimet and Chick Evans are conceded chances of beating the Englishman.

When the Vardon carries off honors he will give England a batting average of 1,000 in the international contest series. There will be no international polo and no rowing contests this year and it is not at all certain that tennis enthusiasts will see competition for the Davis cup.

The proposal to set up the three year rule in freshman from competition seems to have taken its usual course in the east. There was considerable talk of banning the yearlings but the executive and advisory committees of the inter-collegiate association of Amateur Athletics of America at its recent meeting here did not even give the subject consideration.

When the association meets March 5, it is not likely that it will have the freshmen rule to discuss. While it is possible that some of the larger universities, notably Yale, may reconsider certain that smaller eastern schools at which freshmen are allowed to compete on athletic teams, will exert enough influence to prevent the adoption of such a rule. Several important changes in the method of running of the field events at the annual games probably will be adopted at the March meeting.

Col. Jacob Rupert, who makes—well everybody promised not to mention the brew—is considerable of an amateur at the game and willing to admit it. To a crowd of reporters who gathered in his office after the New York Yankees had been formally transferred, the new owner addressed a request that no mention of his brewing business be allowed to creep into the sport columns.

"I'll handle the advertising for my business in the usual way," was the way the colonel put it.

Mentioning no games, several other members of the baseball world, however O. K'd the Rupert doctrine.

From Columbia comes the howl that there is a great dearth of candidates for entry work. Fiction practice has been begun on the rowing machines but only a handful of candidates showed up. Coach Rice asked for enough varsity candidates to fill eight boats but got no less than half that number.

The nearer the time for the swinging open of the ball gates approach, the more it looks like Boston will make a family party out of the 1915 world's championship series. This isn't a forecast out of one of the surmises most generally surmised when scribbles get together.

The sad part about the present manager's viewpoint is the apparent fact that the races in the two majors may not be enough to arouse interest and coin. The team that can beat the Braves out of the pennant put itself together on paper for the first time in their performances toward the tail-end of the 1914 season the Red Sox are being generally picked to cop the American league pennant this year.

Over in the Johnson organization, the dope isn't quite so certain. The disintegration of the Athletics makes the experience to throw the Mackman out of consideration at the Start. Walter Johnson having hopped back, the Washington team should make a strong bid, Chicago, under a radical managerial shake-up but second is one of the unknowns and possible quantities to be reckoned within the pennant hunt. But the argument seems to favor Boston again.

MORRIS MILLER

Despite the inroads of the Federal league, American and National league clubs continue to be worth anywhere from a half to a million dollars. The New York Giants are the most valuable baseball property in the world. President Hendstead of the team and A. Lloyd re-used $150,000 for the year just closed. William P. Baker, quoted his price of the Phillies to the Wards at one million. The Connery syndicate offered $150,000 for the Cubs to Charles P. Taft last year and they wouldn't come through with $300,000 the deal fell through. President Joseph L. Sullivan came into possession of the Boston Red Sox last year for $600,000. It is said the recent sale of the New York Yankees brought its former owners $500,000.

It may be interesting if the goodness knows why it should be to know that. Captain Tillinghast L'Hommedieu Huston is the new secretary-treasurer of the Yankees. This should not be held against him. He was too young to protest when it was slipped to him.

Eddie Collins, former Mackman and now the probable manager of the Chicago White Sox, has always made the best of his baseball ability as a money-gathering medium. It is a well known secret that Eddie Collins has been the "big man" in the Sullivan during the closing days of his collegiate career at Columbia. But it isn't so well known that Eddie played "outlaw" baseball in and around Ottawa, Canada, while attending Columbia. Yep, Collins played short for the Plattsburg team in the Northern league, which included Ottawa, Rutland and Montpelier. He was still a student at Columbia and always played in a light blue and white striped jersey, his college colors. He could hit like a fiend, and his fielding was startling. Eddie used to jump back to Columbia for the big college games.

According to dispatches from Vera Cruz, Jack Johnson is going to find the way to Juarez, Mexico, where he is billed to swap wallop with Jess Willard, anything but a path of roses. General Carranza has announced he will arrest Johnson the moment he sets foot on Mexican soil. Carranza has him deported as an undesirable alien or turned over to the United States marshal on request for extradition. There is only one avenue of escape for Johnson. That, to enter through a Pacific port, but that would necessitate 2,500 extra miles. Carranza's attitude is caused by the reports that his arch enemy, General Villa, is to get a cut on the spoils of the title dash. Villa's brother has the gambling concessions at Quereza and undoubtedly the fight, if pulled off, would pump many shekels into the Villa family purse. Rather than see Villa get some more money to carry on the war, Carranza is going to step in and "crab" the whole works.

In talking over the Collins deal with President Lamm of the Red Sox, Walter Trumbull of the New York World spoke of the fact that Chicago had a strong pitching staff. "Yes," he said, "it's a good staff, but not as good as mine. I have the best pitchers in the league. The published averages would lead to the same belief. Leonard, Foster and Shore each held their opponents to an average of less than two runs per game. Collins and Wood allowed less than three runs per game."

Tom Connolly says that the fastest ball he ever saw pitched in a game he umpired was one with which Cy Young struck out Tommy Leach, who the bases choked, in the world's series of 1903. No one asked Tom about the fastest one he didn't see in the course of his career. Probably he sees them all, at that.

Clark Griffith, the fox manager of the Washington Senators, in a signed story declares that the contenders in the American league race for the pennant next season are going to be Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit and Washington. Griffith further states that he believes that the public will support baseball this year better than last.

Bill Donovan and "Cap" Huston have selected the New York Yankee's uniforms for next season, but Bill is holding back on the selector scheme. "I kinder had a little liking for green," said Donovan, "but when I thought of the old gag that green never runs I had to stop right there. It's all right to have a color in the prize ring that won't run, but with

COLLEGE TO SPONSOR TWO DEBATE LEAGUES

Line City Institution Have Arranged For Two Separate High School Leagues This Winter.

Ten high schools of Southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois will be represented in two interscholastic debating leagues sponsored by Beloit college this year, according to the announcement of Prof. C. D. Crawford, head of the college public speaking department. Rockford is included in one group and may accept, in place of La Grange, who it is understood will not remain in the league.

The college will enter upon a new departure in managing two debating leagues instead of one the coming season. In order to give small high schools better advantage than they could have against schools of larger enrollment, it has been decided to form two circuits, one for the large and one for the smaller high schools.

High schools in the upper group will be Madison, Beloit, Janesville, Rockford and East Aurora. The question debated by the larger schools will be of extension of the parcel post to cover the entire express business. In the smaller school circuit will be Baraboo, Stoughton, Edgerton, Harvard and Belvidere. Schools in this league will argue government control of telegraph and telephone lines.

Each school will be represented by two teams, and will debate all other schools in their league. The first debate will be on Feb. 26. The finals between the two highest teams in each league will be held at the college here. Teams winning championships in each league will be awarded silver cups, and the individual debaters, medals.

ROCKFORD OUTPLAYS JANESVILLE HIGHS; FINAL COUNT 41-15

Forest City Players Have Decided Advantage in Height and Play Over Heads of Blue Toasters.

Janesville high school basketball team are again losers, but fortunately the game was played with a team outside of the state, and does not count toward settling the Wisconsin state championship. In their game with the Rockford high school, the Forest City players yesterday afternoon, the blue quint were able to score but fifteen points to their opponents' 41 during the forty minutes of play. The first half ended 15 to 6 against Janesville.

Janesville has won two games out of four games already played, and the only real fault found with the team today are that they are too light and too small, for a larger team. This was their main trouble at Rockford yesterday. It proved an easy matter for Rockford to pass the ball over Janesville's heads, because of the height of Winters' players, and also because of their weight. In summing up the relative strength between Beloit and Janesville, the Blue City five have it on Curtis' team, for the reasons already mentioned. Beloit was able to defeat Rockford at Rockford by a safe margin.

Janesville could not get started. When they held the ball they would make sensational spurts, but these were short lived, for it would be Rockford's ball out of bounds. Rockford have a good team, and outplayed Janesville almost all of the time. Capt. Stickney and Richard's man, aged to jump about on their hum ankles, the former retiring in the last five minutes of play. Richards lasted throughout the game, but was unable to score. Stickney scored one field goal and three free throws. Both forwards played spectacular ball, and were given many cheers by the Rockford rooters. Ran, at center, was opposed by Rockford's hardest man, Daley scored six baskets over him, while the Janesville center managed to count three times in the last half over the red-headed versatile Rockford player. Stewart was the only other scorer for Janesville. His floor work was of a high quality.

Janesville's next game is with Waukesha on February 5th. This contest will take place in the local gymnasium. Burlington trimmed the Springfield City team by a score of 46 to 11 two weeks ago, and Janesville's chances for a win over Waukesha are very bright. Following is the lineup of the Rockford game: Janesville: 1. f. Capt. Stickney and Stewart, 1. f. f. Ran and Jones, 1. f. f. Daley, 1. f. f. Read, 1. f. f. Field goals—Ran, 3; Stewart, 2.

RACERS SIGN EARLY FOR 500-MILE EVENT

Speed Kings Send In Entries for Next Big Road Race at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Jan. 28.—Darius Resta and Louis Contatin, the former one of Europe's most famous racing drivers, and the latter chief engineer of the Sunbeam factory, have sent in their entry for the next Indianapolis 500-mile race, driving two English Sunbeams of the latest overhead valve type. This raises the total of nominations for the Hoosier event to seven, three of which are foreign. Other European entries expected soon to follow are those of M. Bablot, holder of the continental long distance road racing record, who wants to team with Rene Thomas in a second Delage, and the famous Frenchman, who is conducting negotiations with the owner again to bring over the Baby Peugeot.

Resta is one of the foremost cracks of the old world, having finished second in the 1912 Coupe de l'Auto contest, in which the Sunbeams ran 1, 2, 3, and fifth in the last French Grand Prix. That he did not do better on that occasion is attributed to the fact that he had not sufficient time for preparation, the Tourist Trophy race on the Isle of Man a couple of weeks before having taken too much of his attention. Contatin has done a lot of work at Brooklands, though he has not participated much in road racing. His chief claim to fame is that he designed the famous twelve-cylinder Sunbeam which holds the world's hour record of 107.93 miles.

In submitting his entry, Contatin pays an interesting tribute to the standing of the Indianapolis 500-mile race in foreign countries. "The continent," he says, "we consider Indianapolis race the true American Grand Prix. Up to the present it has been of international character with

ARE KEEPING UP AN INTEREST BOWLING

Ladies Still Enjoy Sport at Y. M. C. A. Alleys—Mrs. Leak Rolls 118 and Ed. Kehler 224 Last Evening.

The ladies who have bowled at the Y. M. C. A. alleys during the past three Wednesday evenings, apparently have enjoyed the sport to such an extent that no one has yet refused to come again. Last evening, the alleys were used from 6:30 until after ten o'clock, and if the interest continues to increase as it has, other arrangements to accommodate those interested will have to be made.

Last evening there was a big interest taken. Mrs. Leak was the high bowler last evening of all the ladies, getting 118. She scored five scattered strikes during the game. Mrs. Hughes hit the 103 mark in a good game. Ed. Kehler distinguished himself by rolling 204, 224 and 157, for an average of exactly 195. The gentlemen bowlers still have a decided edge on their lady friends when it comes to bowling.

The ladies, however, are showing a more noticeable improvement every week. The scores are as follows:

management, they often represent an unpaid portion of the cost of the farm itself or money expended for additional land or for buildings and other equipment. Second: "It is very likely that increased confidence of lenders in the titles to land and in the ability of the farmers to pay their debt has had much to do with this change—meaning the increase in farm mortgages in the last ten years. "When I read that I felt all right. The farmers of Wisconsin and of Iowa, and the other grain-belt states as well, borrow money not because they are hard up, but in order to buy more land, more machinery, more stock. They are making such splendid returns from their farms that it is good finance to borrow and thereby increase their holdings and their earning capacity. On the other hand, their credit is so firmly established and loans are so readily made. Hence the fact that twice as many farms in Wisconsin and Iowa have mortgages as in South Carolina and Alabama, three times as many as in Virginia and Florida."

President Wilson is out with a statement to the effect that business is normal, and that the unemployment problem is advanced for partisan purposes. The only charitable construction to put on this statement, is ignorance, and there is no excuse for this kind of ignorance. The facts are simply these: There are more people out of work in the United States today than at any time since 1893, and there is more idle money today than at any time in the history of the nation. Rather a peculiar situation. The men and idle money, due to the fact that there is but little demand for either. There is no psychology in the situation, and no politics except democratic inefficiency. The president should inform himself on conditions in the industrial world before making statements that won't hold water.

The state legislature will do well to make haste slowly. The first batch of bills introduced are likely to be erratic and impractical. The work of reformation and re-establishing the state on a sound and economical basis is important work, demanding careful thought and ample time to digest. The people are not opposed to progress but they are opposed to having the state exploited in the interests of political ambition and personal gain. The work of the legislature is to aid the governor in establishing a business administration, free from tricks and fads of every description—a "brown-bread and beeswax" administration, which shows value received for every dollar expended. This is what the governor wants and the people will be satisfied with nothing else.

The Harry K. Thaw case, which has occupied the boards for the past nine years, under the persistent manipulation of William Travers Jerome, is likely to drop from sight, as Mr. Jerome has been relieved. Thaw is back in New York but his friends believe that he will soon be given his freedom. The Thaw fortune has been heavily drained and the case is less attractive than formerly. Had Thaw been a poor man he would have been forgotten long ago.

There is nothing more important to the welfare of the state than good roads, and while the money appropriated for state aid should be intelligently spent, the fact should not be overlooked that it is an investment which benefits directly and indirectly all classes. It would be a mistake economy to return to the old county system of road building.

The late decision of the supreme court, on the rights of the employer in dealing with the question of labor, is a most important decision. It is likely to unsettle labor laws in several states, including Wisconsin. It establishes the right of every man to work, wherever he can find employment, and protects both him and the employer.

Prompt action should be taken by the legislature in regard to reimbursing farmers whose herds of stock have been slaughtered in efforts to stamp out the hoof and mouth disease. The taxpayers will not object to liberal treatment and the matter is of too much importance to be neglected.

On the Spur of the Moment
ROY K. MOULTON

Disappointment. I tried to start the New Year right and be a friend to my temper and try out the gentle plan. I said I'd curb my temper and try out the gentle plan. I bade farewell to every grudge when this New Year came in. I was to be good-natured and to hold my wrath as a sin.

"Speak softly" was the motto that was meant to grace my wall. I wouldn't hold a single thing against the world at all. I'd be an angel minus wings from morning until night. And I would smile, in spite of all, although it killed me quite.

I got along first rate until there came, quick as a wink, The flood of New Year's bills that always put me on the blink. I've gone back to the state of mind that I have known of for years. In just as much of a grudge as I have never been before.

Once Abner. Some fellows are so anxious to stand in with the administration that they would even drink grape juice. One of the pleasant things in this life is to see a balanced fellow on a street corner selling hot tomatoes. There is a little something wrong with every one of your friends, but there isn't anything the matter with you yourself.

There are a lot of experts on the national currency question sitting around the corner grocery stores who can't pay their bills. Mr. and Mrs. Lem Higgins have sold their solid mahogany parlor table and their piano to buy gasoline. There is an end to everything in this world excepting automobile bills. People are getting so they kin struggle along without articles and red flannel chest protectors.

At the last pound social held at the opera house several of our well known pugilists got pounded up to a considerable extent. The members of Hank Tumms' lodge chipped in and bought him a handsome watch fob and now he has got to go and buy a watch to hang it on. There are times when every fellow prays to be saved from his fool friends.

Ever Thus.
Willie Jones, he up and married; thought that it would be some fun to support a little wife;
Two could live as cheap as one. Paid half a dollar for the license. Gave the minister a 2;
Then he thought, did little Willie; "Spending money I am through."

Settled in a little cottage;
Coal man called around one day;
Had a little talk with Willie;
Three months' wages then to pay.
Gas man, ice man, grocer, butcher,
Baker and dressmaker, too;
Plumber, phone man, also landlady,
And they cleaned him through and through.

But a single year has passed since
He was one great howling swell;
Took in operas, teas and dances,
Ogled by each village belle.
Once the life of every party;
Now he's keeping pretty still;
Once they called him "Dashing Willie,"
Now they call him "Seedy Bill."

Now's the Time.
Here, you discontented knocker,
Growlin' 'bout the country's ills,
Chloroform your dismal talker;
Take a course of liver pills.
Stop your demagogic howlin',
Chaw some sand and spit some grit;
Don't sit in the dumps a-growlin',
Smile a few au' boost a bit.

Fall in while the ban's a-playin',
Catch the step and march along;
'Steard o' pessimistic brayin',
Sing the hallelulah song;
Drop your hammer—do some routin',
Grab a horn, you cuss, an' split!
Every echo with your footin',
Smile a few and boost a bit.

Marin was a city girl and while spending her vacation in the country a fresh young farmer tried to kiss her and told her he had never kissed a girl in his life. And what did she say to him? She just told him she was no agricultural experiment station.

successful tour to the Pacific Coast, and late in the Spring will give their annual season of revivals in New York City where they have appeared for the past four years.

As Koko in "The Mikado," as Dick Deadeye in "Patience," as the Judge in "Trial by Jury" and the Sergeant of Police in "The Pirates," Mr. Hopper will be seen in the most artistic impersonations of his whole career. The supporting company includes such rare artists as Arthur Aldridge, Arthur Cunningham, Herbert Waterous, Miss Gladys Caldwell and Miss Kate Condon. The production will be a most brilliant and exceptional loveliness and the unusual large chorus is said to contain the finest collection of singing voices heard in light opera in this country within the memory of the present generation.

the favorite features have been retained that assisted in making the Pixley-Luders musical comedy the greatest success of the century. For engaged tour a company has been formed that is considered equal if not superior to any that has interpreted the well known roles. John W. Hopper, the creator of the part of the "Temptress," will head the organization. The production is said to be new, modern and of sufficient beauty to charm the eye, while the ears are ravished by the delightful songs of "The Tale of the Sea Shell," "The Message of the Violet," "Heldberg" and others of equal beauty. There will be a special orchestra under the direction of Victor Clark.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

A vaudeville bill that ranks with the best will be the offering at Myers Theatre the last three days of this week, starting tomorrow matinee. The following attractions have scored successes throughout the country and will no doubt please Myers Theatre audiences during their stay here. First comes one "Carolina," who is billed as the "Human Dragon" or the world's greatest contortionist. She is said to be a very unusual act. Billy Newkirk and Evans Sisters, who have an act designed for frivolous purposes only and which they term their "Delightful Review of Vaudeville Movement." This offering smacks with brilliancy according to the billing. Then come the Mozarts—Fred and Eva, with an act that has received the greatest applause wherever they have appeared on the dollar vaudeville circuits. They carry pretty scenery, do original dancing, clever comedy work, and a novel act in the way of a Snow Shoe dance, a decidedly entertaining act. The following from an exchange gives some idea of how they have been received elsewhere:

A beautiful and realistic setting was seen at the Empress last night for the much heralded diabolical picture "The Master Key" will be shown at Myers Theatre, starting tomorrow matinee and evening. A new episode will be shown at Myers Theatre, starting tomorrow matinee and evening. A new episode will be shown each succeeding week on Fridays.

This picture deals with a strong subject and features those two popular motion picture actors Bob Leonard and Ella Hall. The situations throughout are so thrilling and exciting, the kind the movie fan loves to see.

It is said by those who have seen the picture elsewhere that it is even better than the "Trey O' Hearts" and that was the best serial picture produced up to this time.

The "Master Key" will be shown tomorrow matinee in connection with an excellent Western Vaudeville bill at Myers Theatre, popular prices prevailing.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Even Father Doesn't Know It All Yet—

BY F. LEIPZIGER

THE MASTER KEY

By John Fleming Wilson

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT FOR THIS PAPER MADE WITH THE UNIVERSAL FILM MANUFACTURING CO.

"Well," she went on, blushing divine-ly, "father didn't like Jean and wouldn't have anything to do with her nor allow her to either. She always hated father after that."

"Wilkerson is certainly in love with her," John said presently.

"I think he is," Ruth asserted. "But she doesn't care anything about him, I'm sure. All she is after is money."

Later in the evening as they discussed the events of the day John brought up the subject of Wilkerson's anxiety for the papers again and recalled the fact that old Tom Gallon had always insisted on Wilkerson's knowledge of something.

"I wonder just what it was," he went on. "If he knows just where that rich lode is he's concealed his knowledge pretty well, and the eagerness he is showing to get hold of the plans is proof that he isn't sure."

"He is spending lots of money," she sighed. "How much longer can we keep this up, John? Surely we are broke again?"

"Not so long as good old Everett sticks by us," was the response.

"But—maybe father was mistaken, and we can't pay it all back?"

"Nonsense," he said reassuringly. "I can make the mine pay just as it stands. But I promised your father I'd see that you got all your rights, and he certainly meant for you to have the wealth hidden somewhere in the 'Master Key' mine."

"And we've lost the deeds and the key, and we haven't found the plans," she sighed.

"I'll find that Hindu and his precious idol if I have to go to India," he said promptly. "One thing—we won't have Harry Wilkerson spoiling our schemes. He'll give up now."

But Wilkerson had not given up. On his return from the bank he had learned from the launch captain of Dorr's interest in the idol, and he had promptly followed this clue, with the result that he knew as much about its whereabouts as John and Ruth did, so far as its getting into the hands of an East Indian peddler was concerned. Whether Dorr had recovered the image from him he did not know.

CHAPTER XXII.

THE Quest of the Hindu. THAT night Wilkerson sought out Jean Darnell. She received him in a manner that told him distinctly that she was in a towering rage, though she was outwardly calm.

Wilkerson paid no attention apparently to her blazing eyes nor to her restrained, "Well, once more your schemes have failed."

"Not failed," he said boldly. "I admit we nearly passed up what we were looking for. Do you remember that idol that was in the chest?"

Jean stopped her nervous pacing of the floor and fixed her great, twinkling eyes on Wilkerson.

"Harry," she said huskily, "I am weary of this."

"Wait a moment," he pleaded. "When I went back to the launch I found that Dorr had been quizzing the men about that image."

"And I suppose he had got it."

"No, he didn't. One of the sailors had picked it up and taken it to a pawnshop and sold it."

"Where is it? What has it to do with the plans?"

"I don't know where it is," he responded sullenly. "A Hindu rug peddler bought it."

"And Dorr bought it from him?"

"Wait a moment," he pleaded.

He left immediately without uncovering his plans. He knew that the final victory would not be won until he could find Jean Darnell's soft and voluptuous palms with glittering gold, heaped of gold, gold that ran over, that spilled in luxuriant streams over her clenching fingers; gold that rang under her feet, that mounted like an enveloping flood about her till her flesh was bathe in it.

That night he paced the floor of his room, dreaming of gold and of blood.

So the next morning when John Dorr fared forth on his quest for the rug peddler, Harry Wilkerson was not far behind him, watching his every move, studying him, trying to read what was in his mind. And all with the great question before him:

Had John Dorr the idol?

While these two were seeking for the strange image of an unknown god there was a third who had found in it the goal of his life's toil.

When God conceals himself from us in time of stress and agony, when he has closed his brazen heavens and our prayers die in the empty air it is but to build for ourselves a tangible God, one whom we can see and feel, into whose face we can look and before whose feet we can lay our offerings and our petitions.

In a far city in India men had died of famine. The earth had turned to iron under their plows and the heavens to brass above them.

They had implored a hundred gods for help and made offerings at a thousand shrines. There had been no response. The smoke of the burning ghats by the side of the shrunken river told the sorry tale of prayer unanswered.

And in their last misery men turned, as men will, to one who dreamed. Reality was death. Dreams held out the promise of life.

And this dreamer, as do all who follow a vision, made his dream into a god.

People listened to his tale of a deity who was merciful to listen and powerful to save. They fed on the dreamer's words and called him a prophet.

Yet still the earth refused food, and the river shrank within its bed. Then they went to the prophet and called on him to save them and to call his god to their aid.

Like many prophets, he found himself forced to materialize his dream in order that the common folk might see and believe, for he had taught them that unless they believed there was no salvation.

"How can we believe in a god whom we cannot see?" they cried.

"Believe, though I do not see nor feel," he told them. "But they were not satisfied and menaced him with death."

So he took metals and fire and made an image of his god and made a shrine for it and set the image in the shrine, where all might see and worship.

And the people prayed to this new god and laid offerings at his feet and score one afternoon and said to the clerk at the book counter:

"Let me have, please, the 'Letters of Charles Lamb.'"

"Postoffice right across the street," Mr. Lamb, said the clerk with a polite, brisk smile.

When the doctor came down from seeing her husband he told her that her good man would shortly be on the road to convalescence.

"What's that?" she asked.

"I mean he will be getting better," said the doctor. "You will know because he will get irritable—extremely so."

When he called the next day the doctor found the devoted woman as happy as a sandboy, smiling and singing to herself.

"And how are we today?" he asked.

"Oh, he's getting better, all right," she answered. "He came down to the kitchen this morning and threw a coffee pot at the cook, and shot our old house dog because it wouldn't say 'please.' So I cooked him a fish of tripe and onions and he has gone back to work. It's wonderful how you doctors know things!"

Household Economy

How to Have the Best Cough Remedy and Save $2 by Making It at Home

Cough medicines, as a rule contain a large quantity of plain syrup. A pint of water, stirred for 2 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy.

Then get from your druggist 2 1/2 ounces Pinex (50 cents) pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with sugar syrup. This gives you, at a cost of only 25 cents, a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50—a clear saving of nearly $2. Full directions with Pinex. It keeps perfectly and tastes good.

It takes hold of the usual cough or chest cold at once and conquers it in 24 hours. Splendid for whooping cough, bronchitis and winter coughs.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes the inflamed membranes in the case of a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with quinine, and has been used for generations to heal inflamed membranes of the throat and chest.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

And one day a drunken sailor wandered into the temple to stare at the heathen wonders, and when he slipped away the niche of the god was vacant.

"He has gone on a journey," said the terrified priests and concealed the theft. But the high priest sent several of his chosen acolytes throughout the world to seek for and recover the image.

"How shall we find him?" they asked.

"By a path of death and destruction," was the answer.

So they set out and found the sailor who had stolen it dead in a lane with a knife between his shoulders. And his murderer they discovered in a Chinese seaport gazing horribly at the sky, with a rope twisted tightly about his neck.

So the image passed from hand to hand, always bringing with it death, until some sailor hid it in his chest, and when he had been washed overboard in a storm and his effects were distributed a captain bought the idol for a euro.

Returned Unused Medicine.

Mr. Y. is considered the champion "brilliant" man of our town. Once two members of his family were ill for some time. When they recovered he collected all the bottles that had any medicine left in them and, taking them to the doctor, said: "Say, doc, there's quite a lot of this dope left and you might as well take it back and give me credit for it. You can use it and I can't."

STOP HAVING COLDS

Cut This Out for Future Use

Absolute and immediate relief from cold in the head, closed nostrils and all their attendant ills has been found, by the use of the new chemical, Benetol, discovered by a professor of the University of Minnesota. Put 2 drops of Benetol in a small bowl or jar; sit in two tablespoons Benetol; hold head near as you can hear over steam; cover head and breathe with heavy towel to confine vapor; breathe deeply ten minutes. Your head will be clear. You will sleep well. Again in the morning and you're feeling fine. Most druggists carry Benetol. If yours doesn't, send one for Benetol to Benetol Company, Minneapolis, Minn.

Benetol is sold in Janesville by Smith Drug Co., 14 W. Milwaukee; McCue & Buss, 14 So. Main.

The Game of Small Pawns.

Now, remember, whatever virtue or goodness there may be in this game of war, rightly played, there is none when you thus play it with a multitude of small human pawns. If you, the gentlemen of this or any other kingdom, choose to make your pastime of contest, do so, and welcome; but set not up these unhappy peasant-pieces upon the green field of board. If the wager is to be of death, lay it on your own heads, not theirs.—From "The Crown of Wild Olives," by John Ruskin.

WHAT WILL RELIEVE STOMACH TROUBLE

A Hard Question—But This Retired Ohio Farmer Answers It—Mr. Matteson's Statements Are Reliable.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"I suffered from nervous dyspepsia and stomach trouble so that large lumps would seem to come up in my throat, and would get so dizzy I could not stand up or even see. I tried different remedies but nothing seemed to help me until one day my druggist told me about Vinol. I tried it and soon noticed an improvement and now I am well."—Ira T. Matteson, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

Vinol seldom fails to strengthen and tone up the tired, overtaxed and weakened nerves of the digestive organs and remove the cause of indigestion and soon enables the sufferer to digest with ease the foods that once caused distress. Vinol also creates a healthy appetite and builds up the weakened run-down system.

We have such faith in Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, that we ask every person in this vicinity suffering from nervous dyspepsia or stomach trouble to try Vinol on our offer to return their purchase money if it fails to benefit. Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis., and at leading drug stores everywhere.
